

A father's appreciation of SRS and the teaching of an SRS tutor:

He feels confident about his ability to use his phonic skills and he has much more confidence and enthusiasm in his abilities to read and write.

The work that Susan has done with Harry has had an impact across the curriculum and enabled him to begin to realise his potential.

The outstanding benefits however have been seen in Harry's literacy skills. His reading has improved beyond recognition. He uses his phonic skills quickly and competently allowing his fluency to develop. To his great delight he has been able to read Horrid Henry books at bedtime, this is a real achievement. A few months ago Harry would have found a million other things to do.

Harry's skills for writing, particularly spelling and handwriting are also showing great improvement. He is now able to more easily identify the sounds within words when segmenting for spelling and his letter formation is much more fluid and consistent.

I particularly like the structure of the Susan's program and the way in which we are involved at home. It has been easy for us to compliment the work done in the lesson with the homework provided by Susan. Harry clearly understands the homework set and it reinforces the focus sound taught.

There is no doubt that the work that Susan has done with Harry has helped him. The structured progressive program has been fantastic and it makes sense.

Thank you for providing my son with this much needed program, it has made a real difference. Long may it continue, not just for Harry but for all those who may need such support in the future.
